Credit Costs Bill Likely to Be Passed

By JOE HALL
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Climaxing a seven-year fight, the Senate appears ready to pass with little fuss a so-called "truth-in-lending" bill that would require disclosure of the cost of credit to many borrowers.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he expected passage of the bill this afternoon after two or three hours of debate.

The bill would cover an estimated $100 billion in annual borrowing—$92.5 billion of consumer credit and the rest in second mortgages on homes.

Under its terms, borrowers would be given the true annual interest rate and the total financing charges in dollars and cents.

It is wholly a disclosure bill with no provisions to regulate the credit industry.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief sponsor of the measure, explained its purpose is to permit consumers to compare the cost of credit and shop for the best credit buy.

He emphasized the measure makes no assumption that consumer credit is bad or that large numbers of lenders engage in deceitful practices.

However, Proxmire said many borrowers are confused about what they pay for credit and occasionally there are unscrupulous lenders who prey upon the poor.

Proxmire assumed sponsorship of the legislation last year from former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., who opened the fight for it in 1960.

Mrs. Clair Ann Morrow, 23, of Lincoln (Washington County), was given a five-year suspended sentence here Monday after pleading guilty in Jefferson Circuit Court to helping her husband escape from Tucker Prison on Farm last Thursday.

Mrs. Morrow, arrested last Friday, said she paid a "man at the gate" $150 to help her husband escape.

She said her husband, Odell Morrow, 24, who was serving two years for burglary from Crawford County, had made the arrangements for the escape and had informed her of them in a letter.

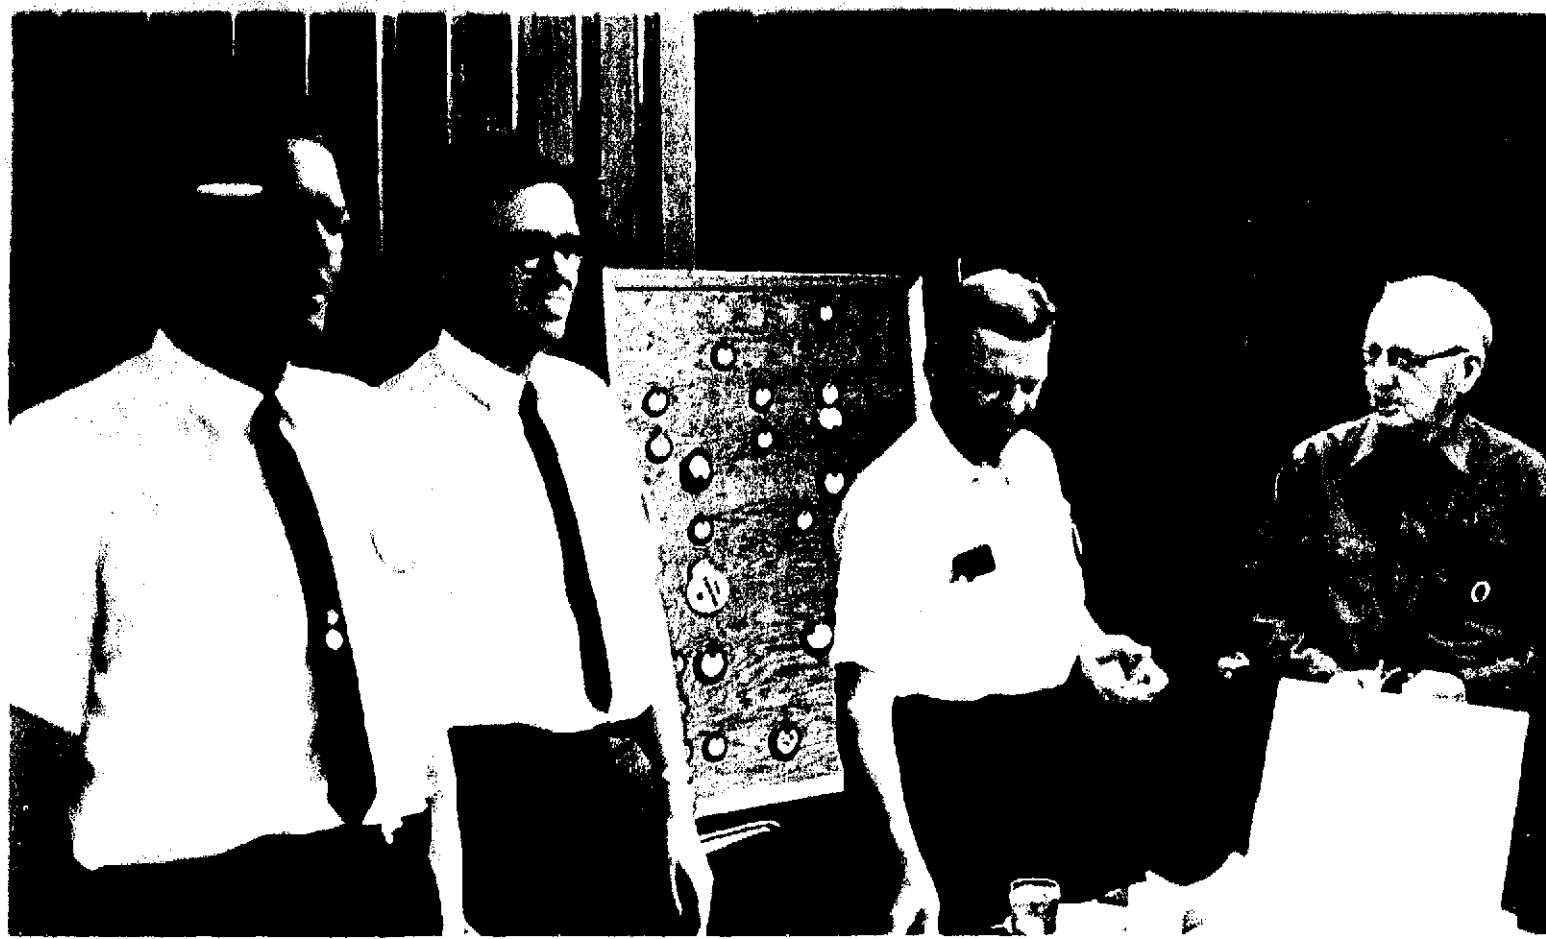

Morrow hid in a ditch near the gate, where his wife picked him up and gave him civilian clothes. The two were captured by State Police near England. It was Morrow's second escape attempt.

Pros. Atty. Joe Holmes said Monday that the guard at the gate was Otis Standridge, 43, who is serving 21 years for armed robbery from Pulaski County.

Holmes said Standridge had been charged with aiding and abetting an escape, the same charge lodged against Mrs. Morrow. The charge is a felony that carries a sentence of 5-10 years.

Authorities learned of the plot when they discovered Morrow's letter in his wife's purse.

Pressure on Israel Over Jerusalem

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Mounting pressure on Israel to undo its annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem was expected today as U.N. Secretary-General U Thant prepared to issue a report on the situation there.

Under a resolution the General Assembly adopted last Tuesday night, Thant had until tonight to report to the assembly and the Security Council whether Israel had heeded the assembly's call to rescind its merger of New and Old Jerusalem.

Israel's five-page reply to the resolution was delivered to Thant Monday night. The reply was kept secret, but the Israeli government has said repeatedly it would preserve the unity of the Israeli sector of Jerusalem and the occupied Jordanian sector, the site of most of the holy places.

Muslim countries were expected to submit a new resolution to the General Assembly when it resumes its emergency session on the Middle East Wednesday.

Rescue of Hostages Has Failed

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A U.S. Air Force C130 scheduled to attempt a rescue of white hostages held by white mercenaries in the Congolese city of Kisangani today did not make the rescue, the Belgian Foreign Ministry announced.

The Belgian spokesman issuing the terse statement would not say whether the plane had flown to Kisangani and been refused permission to land or remained in Kinshasa, the Congolese capital.

Congolese President Joseph D. Mobutu announced Monday night that the U.S. plane would fly low over the Kisangani airport this morning and look for a sign it could land to remove the white hostages.

Dirksen Makes Yule Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Ignoring the 90-degree weather, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen rumbled softly through "Visit from St. Nicholas," "Joy to the World," and other traditional Christmas favorites.

The Senate minority leader was in Capitol Records' studios Monday cutting another long-playing album. His rich baritone voice was backed musically by a 22-piece orchestra and a 10-member choir.

The record is the Illinois senator's third. The others are "Gallant Men" and "Man is Not Alone." It will be released just before Christmas.

Israel Going on With Plan for Jerusalem

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
 UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel informed the United Nations today it will go ahead with its unified administration of Jerusalem despite a General Assembly resolution posing annexation of the old city.

Secretary-General U Thant made public Israel's reply on the eve of resumption Wednesday of the assembly's emergency session on the Middle East crisis. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, who sent the answer to Thant, will defend his positions before the assembly. He is flying to New York.

Eban said the term "annexation" used by supporters of the assembly resolution "is out of place." He made clear that the Old City of Jerusalem would be administered as part of a unified city.

"The government of Israel has now embarked on a constructive and detailed dialogue with representatives of the universal religious interests," he added.

"If these explorations are as fruitful as we hope and expect, the universal character of the holy places will for the first time in recent decades find effective expression."

Eban told Thant that legislation has been adopted to protect the holy places and that "sacred buildings desecrated since 1948 have been restored, and houses of worship destroyed during the Jordanian occupation are being rebuilt."

The Israeli letter, delivered to the secretary-general Monday night by Israel's ambassador, Gideon Rafael, outlined measures taken by Israel on the extension of health services, social welfare programs and compulsory education to Jerusalem's Old City.

The letter said: "The government of Israel is confident that world opinion will welcome the new prospect of seeing this ancient and historic metropolis thrive in unity, peace and spiritual elevation."

Israeli Is Cashing in on Tourists

By DENNIS NEALD
 TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel's tourist business is cashing in on the results of the Middle East war with a publicity campaign featuring some attractions wrested from the Arab foe.

New posters are going to Israel's 13 tourist offices around the world, six of them in North America, showing famous Biblical sites formerly in Jordanian territory.

They show the Tower of David, on the site of King David's original fortress in Old Jerusalem; Rachel's Tomb near Bethlehem, and the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, Jerusalem.

The "Travel to Israel" campaign appears to be paying off. Officials in Washington report a giant passport jam with a huge backlog of applications.

Tourists are arriving by the thousands, jamming hotels that have stood nearly empty the past month.

Last year 328,000 tourists brought Israel $70 million. After oranges, tourism is the country's largest earner of foreign exchange.

The government expects that despite the war, its new publicity campaign will keep up the flow of visitors.

"Business is already picking up and by September we should have a boom on our hands," said a travel agent. "The war aroused a great wave of emotion among Jews all over the world. Now they all want to visit Israel."

THE RIGHT TO COMPETE at the national finals was won by Bonnie, above left, and Pam after they took only 34 minutes and 40 seconds to fix their car in a preliminary runoff. The team is shown in action below, putting the air cleaner back in place at left, and pondering a problem with help from maintenance manuals, at right. About 65,000 students participated in this year's contest, with finals held in Detroit. Expressed purpose of the contest is to encourage more young people to go into the auto mechanics field.

Two girls who know that a "ring job" is something other than finding a husband are Pamela Welch and Bonnie Bush, both 18, of Rumson-Fairhaven High in New Jersey, the first all-girl team to compete in the annual Plymouth National Trouble Shooting contest in Detroit in June. In the contest, teams confront cars identically "bugged" with a number of malfunctions, and compete to see who can correct the faults in the shortest amount of time. Winning time this year was 33 minutes, won by two boys from Ann Arbor, Mich. But the two young misses aren't taking their new-found talents lightly. Bonnie had a summer job lined up in a service station when the contest was over.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — That grand old movie tradition, the road show, now appears to be a permanent fixture in film industry economics.

The road show, also known as the two-day or hard-ticket picture, dates back as far as "Birth of a Nation." The policy of selling reserved seats at advanced prices for special attractions has been attempted over the years with varying success. Only in recent years has the device been embraced by almost all film companies.

"It's a sign of the times," says a theater owner. "People don't mind paying more for the assurance of a reserved seat and the prestige of seeing an important new movie."

Some movie goers are shocked by the price. The top ticket for "Thoroughly Modern Millie" in Hollywood is $4. But there are still enough customers to assure a year's run or longer for a hit film in a metropolitan area. And a hit doesn't have to be a critical success. Some of the biggest attractions were blasted by highbrow critics: "Hawaii," "The Bible," "Millie" and "The Sound of Music."

It was "The Sound of Music," of course, that led the way. The industry's first $100-million grosser demonstrated how a single film, properly road shown, could buoy the fortunes of a company, Twentieth Century-Fox. To a lesser degree, "Doctor Zhivago" did the same for MGM.

There also have been misses: "Is Paris Burning?" "Battle of the Bulge," "Khartoum," "The Hallelujah Trail." But these have been offset by the performances of the winners.

Here is how the major companies stand on road shows:

Columbia-In release: "Taming of the Shrew" and "A Man for All Seasons." Now in production: "Funny Girl" and "McKenna's Gold."

The Disney Company is launching its first road show: "The Happiest Millionaire," may try "Blackbeard's Ghost," MGM-"Doctor Zhivago" has almost played out in road show. "Grand Prix" is in release. Upcoming: "Gone with the Wind" in its first hard-ticket release; "Far from the Madding Crowd" with Julie Christie, Peter Finch; "2001: A Space Odyssey."

Paramount-For this fall: "Half a Sixpence," with Tommy Steele.

Twentieth Century-Fox-The "road-show company," has "The Sound of Music" still playing in a few hard-ticket situations, plus "The Sand Pebbles" and "The Bible." Later this year: "Dr. Doolittle" with Rex Harrison. Next year: "Star! with Julie Andrews. Also planned: "Patton," "Hellow Dolly," "Tora, Tora, Tora" about Pearl Harbor; "Tom Swift," etc.

United Artists-"Hawaii" in release. Future possibilities: "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," "Charge of the Light Brigade." Universal-In release: "Millie." Next year: "Sweet Charity" with Shirley MacLaine; "William the Conqueror."

Warner Brothers-The company is counting on another Lerner-Loewe Musical, "Camelot," to follow its "My Fair Lady."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

By JIM MCKAY

For CYNTHIA LOWRY

Editor's Note — Sometimes it seems that television's greatest need is more interesting spectator sports, but Jim McKay, host on ABC's popular weekly sports program, has worked with 96 different categories and traveled the world many times to do the job. Here he recalls some of the moments that shine brightly in his memory.

NEW YORK (AP) — I've been host on "Wide World of Sports" since its inception in 1961 and traveled two million miles on assignment. At times, returning from some of my longer trips, I've felt as though it might be more appropriate reporting to NASA than to ABC.

In the last six years, "Wide World" has presented 96 different sports, and more fascinating personalities than you could jam into Who's Who.

They range from massive Tamara Press, the magnificent Soviet track star, to Ged Smith, the 5-foot-1 Englishman who exerts at rugby to the Grand Prix drivers who refuse to recognize the omnipresent fact that death lurks at every turn.

I'd like to recall a few of the people who have brightened the last six years for me.

One of my favorites is Jackie Stewart of Scotland, who lasted 168 of the 200 laps in Indianapolis last May when all the talk centered about Parnelli Jones' revolutionary turbine-powered car.

I asked Jackie to evaluate his chances against Jones' machine.

"In the unlikely event I don't win," he began with a sly smile, "I hope they (Jones' team) do because that would annoy a lot of people, and I would enjoy that very much."

Golfers are quite another breed of athlete.

Strength, finesse and concentration are all part of their make-up — and throw in showmanship. Doug Sanders, a veritable peacock on the fairways in his brilliantly colored outfits, is the joy of every owner of a color television set, and it couldn't please him more.

One player who always knew when the red light was on was the late Tony Lema. The Californian met with mixed reactions from the press when he was in Scotland one year for the British Open. They didn't understand or appreciate the nickname "Champagne Tony." Evidently, it was interpreted as American affluence and cockiness, which wasn't the real Tony.

However, one member of the press corps couldn't resist a smile after asking Lema where he stood on the American golfers' money-winning list.

"I'm third on the money-winning list and first on the money spending lists," Tony joked.

THE STEADIES FIGHT BACK

Dear Helen: I've listened patiently to all the people against going steady and now it's time to hear from us who are happy "steading." Down with S.O.S.

I've been going steady with a wonderful boy for 25 months, and I wouldn't trade those months for a lifetime of "just dating."

Whoever said that going steady was a drag didn't have a fellow like mine. To name all his good qualities would take a lifetime, and his bad ones—just a second.

They say the course of true love never runs smooth. We've had a few pebbles thrown in our path, but have never had a fight. My grades couldn't be better, and my life couldn't be more complete. We are never bored with each other, and our love grows stronger all the time.—THE LUCKIEST GIRL

Dear Helen: Those people who stereotype all of us in the "steady" group are as silly as the adults who generalize about "working wives" vs. "dull housewives." When young people are ready to go steady, it's wonderful. We're past that experimental stage and ready to settle for one.

My boyfriend and I are both 18. We have a clear understanding that if we ever get tired of one another, or if there is someone we'd like to date, we'll talk it out. If we ever break up, we will remain friends. It will be heartbreaking but we will have learned something and that's what life is all about. Stamp out steady-ing? Never!!!!

I doubt that we'll break up. We'll be just as happy on our 50th anniversary of marriage as we are now.—HAPPY WITHOUT AN SOS BUTTON

Dear Happy Steadies: You're barking up the wrong button! SOS (Stamp Out Steading) is for younger teens who aren't sure of who they like best, and rebel against the System which pegs them with ONE when they'd like to date several.

Almost everyone, in time, will be an SOS drop-out. That's part of the game.—H.

Dear Helen: I like the SOS idea, but what happens if you decide you want to go steady?—CONFUSED

Dear Confused: Simple: turn your button upside down—but don't give it away. You may become an active member again.—H.

Dear Helen: Will the S.O.S. buttons be ready to start school with? I figure when I find the right guy, I can always alter mine to read, "Stamp Out Studying" so it won't be wasted.—CLEVER, THAT'S ME

Dear Helen: Your letter may sell a thousand buttons, but it won't make me popular with teachers!

Will S.O.S. buttons be ready by September? That depends entirely on you. Remember, this whole business of "un-steady," clubs and buttons was your idea, not mine. I said I'd go along if I got a thousand votes, which would make designing and ordering the big, three-color buttons worthwhile. I'll give you a final answer in four weeks, when I tally up the score. Late votes will still be counted, if you send them today, addressed to HELEN HELP US! care of this newspaper.

Believe me I'm not starting a crusade against "going steady," as I'm quite aware that, for some it works out fine. All these "against" people are trying to say is: "Teens should have a choice, and nowadays they often don't; it's either 'go steady' or stay home, so many girls stay home because boys don't care to be trapped."—H.

Dear Helen: You've got some nerve, putting down teen fads like "going steady." (I didn't—teens did; see above.—H.)

You printed only letters that agreed with you, and you fibbed about getting 300 for S.O.S. (True—it was 322 for; 13—against, and the minority got equal time; also see above.—H.)

Your column is just a big put-

Sailing With All Girl Crew

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lee Quinn has gone sailing again, as usual with an all-girl crew of six who admit they don't know very much about the sea. They pay for the privilege of going along.

Quinn's Neophyte Too sailed for Honolulu Sunday on a trip that is expected to take about 1 or 17 days.

Quinn, 40, completed a 38,000-mile trip around the world July 2 during which 59 women sailed with him.

The new crew includes Patricia Seedsman, 24, a legal secretary from Melbourne, Australia; Carol Thebert, 20, a hairdresser from Buckley, Wash.; Nina De Lipski, 24, a San Francisco health studio manager; Virginia Pirdavari, 27, of San Francisco; Ann Martin, 27, a former airline stewardess; and a schoolteacher who made the trip with the assurance her name would not be revealed.

Quinn's crew members pay $100 a month board.

Aviatrix Plans Book on Trip

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Ann Pellegrino, home from her 28-day, 30,000 mile globe-circling flight along the route taken in 1937 by Amelia Earhart, says she will write a book and a couple of magazine articles about her journey.

But for the time being, all the 30-year-old housewife wants to do is "sit down on something that doesn't move."

The ex-schoolteacher from Saline piloted her 1937 Lockheed Electra—the same model plane Miss Earhart used on her ill-fated flight—to a landing in the rain Monday at her home airport at Willow Run year Ypsilanti.

UP GOES THE LEG, down goes the arm and here comes the pitch as Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants gets set to breeze one toward a batter.

Marichal, Chance Are Starters

By MURRAY CHASS

ANAHEIM (AP) — Dean Chance returns to the land of Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse today as the American League tries to transform itself from one of Snow White's seven dwarfs back into Jack the Giant Killer.

Chance, the controversial right-hander who was a California Angel when the Angels became neighbors of Disneyland last year, was named by A.L. Manager Hank Bauer to start today's All-Star game against the National League.

Currently making a glittering comeback after being traded to Minnesota last winter, the 26-year-old Chance, 11-7, has received the starting honor for the second time in as many All-Star appearances.

In his All-Star debut in 1964, the Ohio farmboy blanked the Nationals on two hits in the first three innings. The NL eventually erupted for a 7-4 triumph.

The loss for the Americans part of a skid that has seen them plummet from a 12-4 All-Star lead to a 19-17 deficit. The National League has won 15 of the last 21 games, eight of the last 10 and the last four.

Before denting the National's superiority, however, the American League must get past Juan Marichal, San Francisco's brilliant right-hander who was named to start for the NL by Manager Walter Alston.

The winningest pitcher in the majors with a 12-7 record, Marichal is making his second start in six appearances and seeking his third victory against no defeats.

Bauer's forces have been decimated by injuries, primarily to Detroit's Al Kaline and Baltimore's Frank Robinson, the two highest vote getters on the 25-man squad.

Kaline fractured his right hand June 27 by slamming his bat into the bat rack after striking out, and Robinson has double vision as the result of a mild concussion he suffered the same day sliding into Chicago's Al Weis at second base.

Tony Oliva of Minnesota replaced Kaline in the line-up while Tony Conigliaro of Boston took Robinson's place. Oliva will play center field, Conigliaro in right with Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in left.

Shortstop Rico Petrocelli of Boston has a bruised wrist, and first baseman Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota reinjured his groin during the weekend, but both were expected to play.

Rounding out the AL team are Rod Carew of Minnesota at second, Brooks Robinson of Baltimore at third and Detroit's Bill Freehan catching.

Facing Chance in the National League line-up are Roberto Clement of Pittsburgh, Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Lou Brock of St. Louis from right to left in the outfield, Atlanta's Joe Torre catching, Orlando Cepeda of St. Louis at first, Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski at second and Gene Alley at short and Rich Allen of Philadelphia at third.

John Adams and John Quincy Adams are the only father and son to have their portraits on U.S. postage stamps.

Arkansas Pounds Out a Victory

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Arkansas pounded three Albuquerque pitchers for 19 hits Monday night and beat the Dodgers 12-5.

The game was held up 17 minutes in the top of the eighth inning because of rain.

Nine of Arkansas' hits went for extra bases, including three two-run homers — by Tommy Smith, Roy Majtyka and Joe Hage.

Arkansas took a 5-1 lead in the second inning, and after six innings, the Travelers were out front 11-5.

The only Dodger having any luck against the Arkansas pitchers was Luis Alcaraz, who got four straight singles.

The Dodgers did all of their scoring against Arkansas starter Dave Bakenhaster, who went out in the sixth inning. Dennis James took the loss.

Second-place El Paso embarrassed league-leading Amarillo 10-5 in other Texas League action, while Austin won 11-1 in a game that matched the fifth-place Braves against sixth-place Dallas-Fort Worth.

El Paso now is six games out of first, while Albuquerque is 9 1/2 games out and Arkansas 10.

The Travelers host Dallas-Fort Worth tonight at Little Rock, while Amarillo goes to Albuquerque and Austin travels to El Paso.

Fight Fans Will Get Good Break

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Fight fans throughout the nation will get a break out of the eight-man heavyweight elimination tournament and other fights coming up among the big boys. The price is right. It will be free for most everyone.

By signing Floyd Patterson, the former two-time heavyweight king, for the World Boxing Association-approved tourney Monday, Sports Action, Inc., lined up eight of the 10 top men in the WBA's rankings.

The only exceptions are unbeaten Joe Frazier of Philadelphia and 10th-ranked George Chuvalo, the Canadian champion from Toronto, who will battle in a 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden July 19. That fight is not part of the tournament, since Frazier prefers to make one match at a time.

But it will be telecast into homes by MSG-RKO General Presentations.

The four quarter-finals, the semifinals and the final of the elimination tourney to determine a successor to defrocked Cassius Clay, will be telecast nationally into your home by ABC-TV.

New York will be blacked out of the Frazier-Chuvalo telecast and sites of the tournament bouts also won't get the live telecasts.

ABC-TV will show the quarter-finals and semifinals on the Wide World of Sports program on Saturdays, starting about 5 p.m., Eastern time. The final, at the Houston Astrodome, in January or February of 1968, will be shown on prime evening time over ABC.

Patterson, ranked sixth by the WBA and a key man in the tourney, probably will meet seventh-ranked Jerry Quarry of Los Angeles in a return bout at either Los Angeles or Oakland, Calif., on Oct. 28. They fought to an exciting draw a month ago in Los Angeles.

The other three quarter-finals were set up previously.

The tourney kicks off with the Aug. 5 doubleheader at the Astrodome matching Ernie Terrell, No. 4, Chicago, against Thad Spencer, No. 5, San Francisco, and Jimmy Ellis, No. 8, Louisville, Ky., vs. Leotis Martin, No. 9, Philadelphia.

Then, on Sept. 16, at Offenbach Stadium, near Frankfurt, Germany, Karl Mildenberger, No. 1 and the European champion from Germany, will meet Oscar Bonavena, No. 3 of Argentina. This will be beamed to the United States via the Early Bird Satellite.

ABC said the semifinals are tentatively scheduled for Nov. 11 and Dec. 2.

Wills Can Use Shoe at Anaheim

ANAHEIM (AP) — The controversial cleat-type baseball shoe introduced by speedster Maury Wills and banned by National League President Warren Giles three months ago will be permitted in the major leagues next spring, the Pro Baseball Rules Committee said Monday night.

The rules committee, meeting on the eve of the All-Star game at Anaheim, decided to permit the use of the unconventional spikes on an experimental basis, only in the majors, beginning in spring training next year.

Wills, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was ordered by Giles to change back to conventional spikes after wearing the new shoes — which resemble track shoes and do not have a triangular metal plate attached — during exhibition games last spring.

The rulebook prohibits the attachment of anything other than the metal plate.

Bede Ready for Another Solo Try

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Bede is ready for another crack at flying solo, nonstop around the world, but not right away.

"I'll have to get my plane cleaned up," he said Monday after piloting his self-designed single-engine craft from Cleveland to New York and turning back because of a bad compass.

The light craft, similar to a sailplane and designed to carry 565 gallons of fuel on the 25,000-mile trip, was not damaged when Bede slid to a landing on the grass of suburban Cuyahoga County Airport in Richmond.

DOWN ON THE FARM

By ROGER DOUGHTY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It's not that the Atlantic Coast Football League was intended to be a halfway house for fired National Football League coaches, it's just that things are working out that way.

For example, take the Westchester Bulls, a Mount Vernon, N.Y., based team scheduled to open the ACL season Aug. 26 against something called the Waterbury Orbits.

Taking the Bulls by the horns will be Tom Scott, Ed Kolman and Harry Wright (all axed from the coaching staff of the New York Giants), with Joe Walton and Allan Webb lending a hand. Scott, Kolman and Wright may have been unwanted by the Giants, but they already have the Orbits spinning with fright.

The idea behind the ACL is to establish a farm system for parent clubs in the NFL and American Football League and if things work out the way they're supposed to, other minor leagues will be in the same boat.

Wright, a former Notre Dame lineman who served as offensive backfield coach with the Giants for three years, says, "As far as I'm concerned, there's nothing minor about football no matter where it's played."

Hopefully, enough people in ACL cities will agree with Wright to ease the financial strain on the major clubs involved. The Giants, for example, are painfully aware that the Bulls, who were the Scranton Miners last year, managed to lose $60,000 while posting a 3-8-1 record.

If the Bulls meet the same bearish fate, Scott, Kolman and Wright can take heart in the words of their former boss, Allie Sherman, head coach of the Giants, who managed to win only one game last year but has eight years to go on a 10-year contract.

"If the Bulls don't win all their games," Sherman said, smiling, "it will be because there's something wrong with the coaching."

Heights. The plane has built-in skids.

The trouble developed in the compass system that would have guided the plane while Bede napped during the 6 1/2-day, nonrefueling trip.

At turnback time, the 34-year-old aeronautical engineer was three hours and 50 minutes out of Cleveland and over Long Island.

Mrs. Wallace May Be Rid of Cancer

By REX THOMAS
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama began today a two-to-three-week period of recovery in a hospital from an operation which a doctor says may rid her of cancer.

A malignant tumor in the lower abdomen was removed during 4½ hours of surgery Monday. One of her physicians said afterward, "We found nothing that would prevent complete recovery."

It was her second operation for cancer in 18 months. The nation's only woman governor was kept under sedation. She is expected to remain at M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute for two or three weeks before returning to her home at Montgomery, Ala.

Her husband, former Gov. George Wallace, whose concern for his wife's health had become increasingly visible, said he was "elated" and "very thankful" for the doctors' encouraging prophecy.

He will stay at his wife's bedside "as long as she is in the hospital."

The hospital director and chief surgeon, Dr. R. Lee Clark, said Mrs. Wallace, 40, will return to Houston in two months or so for X-ray therapy.

This will be done, Clark explained, to destroy any tiny cancer cells which may have gone undetected.

Clark said the malignancy which recurred after the governor's first surgery for cancer — performed in Montgomery — was the result of "microscopic cells which were present and took growth" on the external surface of the colon.

X-ray treatment will destroy such cells while they are small, the doctor said, but not after they reach the tumorous stage.

She Can Tell Measurements at a Glance

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Some might call June Wiley a statistician. Others would say she's more a detective.

But at least one Miss Universe contestant is sorry June's backstage.

June checks to make sure the girls aren't giving nature a boost in the swimsuit competition.

"I fit all the girls personally and I can tell pretty quickly if one of them suddenly gets more busty," she said.

Miss France, 36-22-33, and Miss Scotland, 38-24-36, presented the biggest problems for Miss Wiley as contest rules prohibit altering any part of the official swim suit.

"I need to have my suit taken in at the waist and hips," complained Lena McGarvie of Glasgow, a public relations officer.

Not so, proclaimed June, only buttons on the straps can be adjusted.

Miss Wiley also decrees what size suit the contestants shall wear as they parade before the judges in Saturday night's CBS television production. Sometimes her judgment and the contestants are at odds.

Miss Italy, a 39-25-39 model, wanted to wear a size 10 suit, Miss Wiley said. She got a 14.

Synod Finds Trouble Is Money

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Money blues today troubled the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, particularly the sluggish response to a special fund drive, but church representatives prayed, pleaded and scolded to try to put more pep in it.

"I know of people that are literally going to hell because of our lack of funds," said the Rev. Arnold G. Ahlman, of Denver, one of a succession of delegates voicing their concern Monday at the church's biennial convention.

"We can all alibi," he added. "But, fellows, we've got to work harder at doing something about this." At one point, the 1,700 Lutherans got on their knees in the grand ballroom of the New York Hilton Hotel and prayed about it.

Besides a general sag in financial support, what especially worried the 2.8-million-member church, second largest in American Lutheranism, was that a 1967 capital fund drive for $40 million has yielded only $5.25 million.

Students Help Committed Delinquents

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
AP Science Writer

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — The young Negro prisoner was so hostile his clenched jaws constantly quivered. No staffer at Preston School of Industry could penetrate Tommy's shell. But Julie did.

Julie is a senior at the University of the Pacific; pretty, intelligent, vivacious, white, member of a leading sorority, and very sensitive to feelings of other people.

Tommy's brother had been killed in an Alabama race riot. At 18 Tommy was a ward of California, and "the most 'burn, whitey, burn' inmate in the state school for delinquent boys," as Prof. William F. Byron described him.

Tommy was paroled recently, and he wrote to Julie. He addressed the letter "To Miss Wonderful."

"Thanks to you I am sure I'll make it on the streets because I understand people better, and I now understand that other people are human too. Just the short time I've known you has made me a better guy."

Julie, with other girls and boys from the university, visited the California Youth Authority school at Ione, 40 miles north-east of Stockton, once a week the past school year. They ate dinner with the wards, then spent an hour and a half with them, talking, taking part in various group projects, even in occasional dance sessions.

Byron, retired chairman of the division of social work at Northwestern University who came to Pacific in 1962 as visiting professor of sociology, initiated the unique program and directs it. A nationally recognized authority on juvenile delinquency, Byron is a man of energetic idealism liberally seasoned with pepper and salt.

Byron had helped obtain a parole for Nathan Leopold, survivor of the Leopold-Loeb "thrill killer" team. The professor decided to broaden his horizon by serving at schools in various parts of the United States after leaving Northwestern. But the opportunity to apply his rehabilitation theories at Pacific kept him here.

Officials at Preston and the new O.H. Close School for Boys, a Northern California youth center facility 12 miles south-east of Pacific, have become enthusiastic supporters of the program started at Preston as an experiment in 1964.

The volunteers—some 70 in the school year just ended and most of them coeds—are not merely curious or casual do-gooders. Thorough screening by a Byron committee bars those types. The students don't get paid. Only about one-third of them get any college credit for the work, although Byron insists that the crux of the program is academic content and supervision.

The students simply want to help youngsters who have been committed by courts as juvenile delinquents, kids with demonstrated inability to handle freedom and responsibility. Most of the wards, Byron says, consider themselves outcasts and unwelcome in society.

"Some have 'born to lose' tattooed on their skin," he says. "We must keep it from being burned into their minds."

Party Act Signatures Verified

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 1967 Party Affiliation Act will be placed before the voters in the 1968 General Election, Secretary of State Kelly Bryant announced Monday.

Bryant said the Citizens Committee to Preserve Voter Rights had 55,049 qualified signatures on 3,075 petitions. The group needed only 33,812 qualified signatures to get the act on the ballot.

The group had submitted 3,627 petitions containing 70,397 signatures.

Col. Tim Shea, the committee chairman, said the petitions "vividly indicate that the individual voter wants a direct voice in matters pertaining to his or her voting rights."

Faubus Owns Land in a State Park

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Orval Faubus said today he borrowed $6,400 to buy 80 acres in Lost Valley State Park that contained the park's most attractive features.

Faubus said he bought the land three months after vacating the governor's office this year because the state Publicity and Parks Commission failed to buy it.

"The owners were getting ready to sell it to somebody else," Faubus said.

He said he had no use for the property, which includes the park's passway, waterfall, cliffs and a large cave. It is in north-west Newton County.

The Arkansas Gazette disclosed Faubus' purchase today.

Faubus said in a letter June 26 to some of the members of the Publicity and Parks Commission that he bought the property to keep it out of "commercial hands."

He said that without the attractions on his 80 acres the park would be "practically valueless."

"Now, if the commission and the administration do not wish to purchase the land and create the park, please let me know," the former governor wrote.

He said he would sell the land to the commission for what it cost him plus $100 expenses but that if the state does not buy it he is going to stretch a fence across the valley to keep the tourists away from the main attractions.

Faubus said he would put up a "suitable sign to explain why it has not been made a state park, and who is responsible."

Faubus said he paid $80 an acre for the land, according to the Gazette article by Ernest Valachovic.

The commission paid $23,784 for the 200-acre state park last December, when Faubus still was in office. No mention was made then of the fact that the most scenic attractions in the area were not included.

The purchase was handled through Dr. Edwin N. Barron Jr., of Little Rock, who bought the 200 acres from Mrs. Eursa Primrose and turned it over to the state for what it cost him.

Faubus' letter said that two commission employees — Director Bob Evans and Associate Director of Parks Bryan Stewarns — knew then that the attractions were not included in the purchase, Valachovic reported.

"As I told Mr. Evans and Mr. Stearns at that time, the Primrose tract of about 200 acres, purchased by Dr. Barron and in turn sold to the state, did not contain the salient features of the Lost Valley area," he quoted the letter as saying.

"I then arranged, because of my acquaintance with the owners, for the purchase of an additional 80 acres of land on which are found the main attractions of the Lost Valley area."

The commission "procrastinated" and didn't complete the purchase before his term expired, Faubus was said to have written, and "the new governor froze funds and so blocked the additional purchase."

Faubus said that after he returned to his home in Huntsville when he left office, the owners of the land came to him and told him the transaction had not been completed, Valachovic reported.

"Then, in order to prevent the land from falling into commercial hands, I purchased the tract from them at the original stipulated price, in order to have this property to create a state park..." he said the letter continued.

Valachovic said the commission last Friday and voted to advise Faubus that it lacked the money to buy more land and that the federal government probably would acquire it as part of the Buffalo River National Park.

Valachovic said the letter from Faubus was mentioned at the meeting, but that no copies were released. He said Commission Chairman L. C. Dial of Brinkley promised to make it public at the commission's August meeting.

Mexico Party to Challenge Vote

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's conservative party, the PAN, has served notice it will challenge results of at least 50 of the congressional contests won July 2 by Mexico's ruling Institutional Revolutionary party, the PRI.

A PRI spokesman said Monday night the party's candidates won 177 of the 178 elected seats in the chamber and all seven gubernatorial races, including turbulent Sonora where student riots against the party caused at least four deaths.

Part Score Play Varies

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Part score hands are always harder to discuss than game contracts or slams because there are too many variations possible. East has a doubtful opening bid but if he does open his side will play the hand at one-trump or two hearts. One-trump will make, two hearts will make or be set depending on how the play goes.

At most tables in the duplicate game everyone passed the East hand. Top score East and West went to a pair that managed to pick up 200 points by setting two clubs two tricks.

South could have saved a trick in several ways but he went wrong a trifle and East and West were ready to take advantage of his errors.

South started with three rounds of spades. East was on lead and played a fourth spade for dummy to ruff. The next trick was the queen, king and ace of hearts and a second heart put East back on lead.

This time East led a trump. West cashed his ace and king and led a third trump to put South back in dummy.

The ace of diamonds became the sixth and last trick for declarer since East won the second diamond and led hearts.

The whole play is worthy of considerable study. South could and should have saved one trick by playing diamonds earlier than he did but when he missed this opportunity East led his trump at exactly the right time to keep South from making any trump trick in his own hand.

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♦ Pass 2 N.T.
Pass 3 ♦ Pass ?

You, South, hold:
♠ A Q 2 ♠ K 9 4 ♠ A Q ♠ K J 9 7 6
What do you do now?

A—Bid three spades. If your partner is interested in a slam you can afford to show this ace. If he is afraid of a spade lead against no-trump this bid tells him not to worry.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid three spades and your partner bids three no-trump. What do you do now?

Indonesia Has Smashed Reds

JAKARTA (AP) — A military spokesman said today that two more top Communist leaders have been arrested, including the man believed to be the new party chairman, and the party has been virtually smashed in Indonesia.

The party already had been driven underground and its chairman, Sudisman, is on trial for his life on charges he was involved in the Communist coup attempt of October 1965.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Taxing the Wages of Sin

Have you swindled anyone lately? Collected any ransom? Taken any illegal kickbacks? Embezzled any cash? Then, in addition to whatever other problems you may have with the law, you also owe income tax to the federal government.

It may seem strange for the government to levy an income tax on such ill-gotten gains. Indeed, wrongdoers have carried their objections into the courtroom, arguing—as did the proprietress of a bawdyhouse—that the wages of sin are not taxable.

But the government retorts that, if honest people have to pay a tax on their income, so should dishonest people. In the words of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes:

"Congress may tax what it also forbids."

Of course, a lawbreaker may not report—or even keep records of—his income. Nevertheless, the government has various ways of establishing its case. For example: one gambler's income was proven by his bank deposits; another's gambler's income was proven by the commissions he paid to his confederates; and a third gambler's income was proven by evidence of the average "take" in similar gambling operations.

If a wrongdoer must pay a tax on his income, may he at least deduct his expenses? If they are "ordinary and necessary" costs of doing business, they may usually be deducted—even if the business is illegal. Thus, a court held that a bookmaker was entitled to deduct costs of rent and wages in figuring his net income.

But suppose the expense itself is illegal, like paying a bribe to a public official. That kind of an expense is not deductible.

The government takes the position that it would be bad public policy to let a person cut down his tax bill on the basis of his own unlawful act.

By the same token, a fine paid for violating a state or a federal law is also not a deductible expense (although the attorney's fee is).

True, paying the fine may be one of the costs of doing business. But, as the United States Supreme Court put it, allowing the fine to be deducted would take some of the "sting" out of the punishment.

Auto Workers Take Demands to Ford

By GENE SCHROEDER

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union took its demands for enriched labor contracts, including profit sharing, to Ford Motor Co. today as the opening round of negotiations moved to the nation's No. 2 automaker.

UAW President Walter Reuther launched 1967 automakers-labor bargaining Monday by telling General Motors, the industry leader, that the union wants a slice of the profits.

Reuther said workers should get bonuses based on profits at the end of the fiscal year just as company executives get bonuses and stockholders get extra dividends.

Louis Seaton, GM vice president for personnel, declined to take a position on the profit-sharing proposal or any other UAW demand.

But he told newsmen that 20 years ago the union was firmly opposed to any profit-sharing plan.

Reuther was making an old request in new trimmings by calling his proposal on profit shares for workers "equity sharing." Very little emphasis had been placed on the idea this year prior to Monday's opening talks.

The UAW has had a profit-sharing agreement with American Motors since 1961, but this company has had no profits to share during the past two years.

The automotive big three—GM, Ford and Chrysler—thus far have been adamant in their opposition to the concept.

As they opened negotiations, both the UAW and GM attempted to cool off speculation about the possibility of a strike.

Both Reuther and Seaton told newsmen that they were ready to bargain in good faith and are hopeful that there will be no walkouts after contracts expire Sept. 6.

But both sides have said privately that several "strikeable issues" are among the union's demands which Reuther has described as the "longest and most ambitious" list ever presented.

They include a substantial wage increase, a guaranteed annual income, wage parity for Canadian workers and a limit on subcontracting which the UAW says takes jobs away from its members.

Patriotic Dance Planned by Contestant

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Carole Diane Chowning, Miss Magnolia, will perform what she calls a "patriotic" dance for her talent number at the Miss Arkansas Pageant here this week.

The United States has met many challenges in times of crisis, and she wants to express in dance her feelings for her country, she said Monday.

"There has been so much emphasis lately with Vietnam," she said, "You hear so many remarks about draft card burners. It's time someone stands up and shows that teenagers are not like that really."

Greek Envoy to U.S. Retiring

ATHENS (AP) — The new military regime is retiring the Greek ambassador to the United Nations, Alexios Llatis, and four other key ambassadors.

More ambassadors may lose their jobs soon, a reliable source said.

The regime gave no reason for retiring the ambassadors in its announcement of the move Monday, but it is known their loyalty has been in doubt since the April 21 coup.

Pine Bluff Vote Mountain of Debt Phoenix Rebels

Despite previous rejections a public housing proposal is once more before the voters of Pine Bluff in an election being held today.

One of Arkansas' better newspapers, Pine Bluff Commercial, thinks public housing is a good idea and voters who didn't like it before should change their minds today.

"We support the government by our taxes, and if we are skillful we can get more out of it than we put in," says the Commercial.

That paragraph has two errors. One, our taxes are not supporting the federal government - it's going in the hole every year, and now owes half again as much as when fighting ended in World War II. Two, neither Pine Bluff nor any other city preying on the debt-bound central government is "getting something for nothing." If the community gets public housing it's being paid for by the federal's systematic robbing of your personal Social Security fund, the oldest fraud on earth - taking out the cash and leaving in its place a flock of IOU's.

Obviously we don't see eye-to-eye with the Pine Bluff Commercial.

Obviously we don't believe in more debt for a central government that is already virtually "broke."

And if America strikes you as a confused nation there is a remedy which will bring order out of chaos: Make the central government start paying back instead of borrowing more - and you'll find that much of the confusion will vanish. Remember the adage: When the call goes out for money the crowd promptly leaves...

Mad Bird Still After Miami Soreheads

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) - The mad mockingbird of Miami Beach was at it again Monday, but sorehead residents had to put away their air rifles and slingshots.

Almost all of Florida is a bird sanctuary and the menacing mockingbird is protected. The latest attack was just as sneaky as those of the past two weeks: a swoop out of the sun and a nasty little knock on the back of a woman's head.

Kenneth McGovern of the humane society just suggested that everybody keep a cool and covered head.

He said the attacks were most likely a seasonal thing, "the birds are nesting now."

He said that to remove the bird, permission would have to be received from the Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Department of the Interior.

Surveyor 3 May Avoid Moon Bounce

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - Scientists say the Surveyor 4 spacecraft scheduled to take off for the moon Thursday will carry electronic insurance against the double bounce that nearly ruined Surveyor 3's landing April 19.

Surveyor 3's radar system, designed to cut off its descending rockets 14 feet above the lunar surface, became confused by some mysteriously reflective rocks as the craft neared touchdown.

The engines kept burning and rocketed the three-legged vehicle 35 feet high on the first bounce, 20 feet on the second. They were shut off by command from earth and the craft settled down in a crater some 30 feet away.

116 Enemy Regulars Die in Fight

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) - Almost 1,000 North Vietnamese regulars partly overran a South Vietnamese base camp today then were hurled back into the jungle with losses of at least 116 killed and many more reported wounded and dragged away.

Striking before dawn, two North Vietnamese battalions rushed toward the barbed wire and sandbagged bunkers and cut through one corner of the defense perimeter.

For more than an hour the fighting was savage. One South Vietnamese soldier had his wife and two children in his bunker; the wife was killed by a charging Red soldier who was then killed by the South Vietnamese trooper.

A few hours earlier an American paratrooper force stumbled into a fortified ambush in the central highlands and suffered 26 dead and 49 wounded. The Americans reported only six of the enemy killed.

The ground fighting intensified as Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara completed his five-day inspection tour of Vietnam.

A high U.S. source said he would not recommend sending all the 100,000 to 140,000 additional U.S. troops Gen. William C. Westmoreland reportedly asked for.

At a news conference before flying back to Washington, McNamara said U.S. policy is still to "provide the troops our commanders think necessary." But he added: "What is necessary depends on the extent to which we are using the resources we have available to us."

Noting that the allied forces have more than a million men under arms, including 466,000 Americans, he said there are "many ways open to increase the effectiveness of those men if we set our minds and hearts to it."

Nobody Has More to Revolt About Than a Middle-aged Person

By HALBOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) - Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

What this country needs is a way for the middle-aged to blow off steam.

Nobody in America has more things to revolt about than the man or woman between 40 and 65, but there is no organized way for him or her to show his wrath except to write a letter to a congressman. For all the good that does, it might as well be addressed to the man in the moon.

The middle-aged are the most overworked and underappreciated class in the nation. What agency considers their plight? None. And they are usually so busy taking care of others that they don't have time to take proper care of themselves.

They are the forgotten heroes of this civilization.

They pay most of the taxes, are the chief support of churches and universities, do most of the world's work and most of its worrying, and suffered most of its heart and ulcer attacks. And after raising their own children they have to start in serving as unpaid baby sitters for their grandchildren.

Numbly they ask themselves: "When does the fun begin?" For them, it doesn't.

The plight of the middle-aged today is pretty much the same as that of a blind mule in a coal mine. They are taken for granted by their government, their children, even by themselves.

Welfare recipients march on City Hall, the racially oppressed manufacture street riots, farmers destroy their crops to protest low prices, and college lads reach the wheel-chair age.

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) - Fred Wiedowier, 43, manager of the F. S. Pre-Stress Plant at Hampton, has been elected president of the Union County Republican Committee, succeeding I. C. Johnson, who was appointed to a post in the state Welfare Department, it was announced here Monday.

Miami Hiring Slums Youths

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) - The City Commission approved Monday a $47,140 program to hire 100 youngsters from slum and hard-core unemployment areas. The commissioners hope to prevent the possibility of idleness leading to civil disorders.

are free to stage panty raids or picket their draft boards.

Every class or creed in America has a way of venting its anger except the forlorn, overlooked middle-aged class. It has found no method to voice its complaints or get its grievances redressed.

Not for him, the middle-aged man, comes the thrill of throwing stones at the police, besieging a foreign embassy, or even hanging someone in effigy. Nope, he just stands there quietly bleeding at the crossroads of time, getting more lumps every year.

The government turns on fire-plugs to free showers for the kids, grants scholarships for older students, subsidizes housing for the poor, gives medical care to the elderly, spends billions on underprivileged abroad.

But the faceless middle-aged man gets from Uncle Sam nothing but a big fat round zero.

If the government can provide free milk to kindergartners - who, after all, have yet to do a thing for their country - why can't it buy a luncheon martini once a week for a worn-out white-collar or factory worker of 50 who has been meeting his tax bills for more than a quarter century?

Why not government subsidized love nests for middle-aged bachelors, free parking places for anyone over 45, and government-paid annual vacations to all housewives who'll publicly confess they are older than 39?

Being middle-aged has been a crime long enough. Maybe it's time these people won their rights by a mass walk on Washington, right now before they reach the wheel-chair age.

Petition of Prisoner Rejected

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Federal District Judge J. Smith Henley rejected a handwritten petition from a Tucker Prison inmate Monday and announced that his court could not be used "indiscriminately as a forum for complaint" by convicts.

Tucker inmate Delmer E. Simmons, who was wounded in the neck before being sent to prison Jan. 29, alleged in his petition that he was being denied special medical attention and that he was being forced to do work of which he was incapable.

Henley said he could find no evidence to support either allegation.

"This proposed complaint is but one of an increasing number with which the judges of this court are being bombarded almost daily from inmates of the Arkansas State Penitentiary who are dissatisfied with conditions in that institution and with the treatment they are receiving," Henley said.

"In exceptional cases, this court has jurisdiction . . . to entertain such complaints where it appears that inmates are being mistreated to such an extent as to amount to substantial violations of federally protected rights," he said.

"But convicts cannot be permitted to use this court indiscriminately as a forum for complaint every time that they are dissatisfied with a work assignment or with medical treatment accorded to them on the basis of evaluations made by the medical staff of the institution."

Typhoon Slated to Hit Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) - Typhoon Clara hit the northeast coast of Formosa this afternoon with winds of 105 miles an hour. It struck between Taipei and Hualien, on the Pacific Coast 75 miles to the south.

Torrential downpours battered the capital and other areas as the typhoon cut its way northwestward on a path toward the Formosa Strait and Communist China.

U.S. Refuses Military Aid to Nigeria

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) - The Johnson administration rejected rebellion-torn Nigeria's request for military aid just as edgy congressional leaders began fuming that such help, coupled with earlier dispatch of U.S. planes to the Congo, could invite Communist meddling in Africa.

A congressional uproar Monday greeted Sunday's announcement that three transport planes and 150 men had been sent to the Congo, torn by a mercenary-led rebellion.

Hours later, just as Capitol Hill began sounding off against a hint that such aid might go to Nigeria, too, the State Department turned down Nigeria's request, saying its rebellion was purely internal.

In almost the same breath that some congressmen expressed fears of a Vietnam-type involvement in Africa, they discounted the optimistic report from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that the military war is going well in Vietnam.

Some said they expect McNamara's visit to result in dispatch of more troops to Asia and a tax increase to pay for them.

With both Vietnam doves and hawks criticizing the Congo action, the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees summoned Secretary of State Dean Rusk for a private explanation today of the administration's position.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee challenged a State Department spokesman's contention that the United States is obligated to uphold the "territorial integrity and unity" of Nigeria and the Congo.

"This business of guaranteeing the territorial integrity of nations all around the world is being carried too far," Fulbright said. "What treaties do we have that call for our intervention in the domestic affairs of other countries? So far as I know, there are none that apply in Africa."

A portion of Nigeria has proclaimed itself the independent nation of Biafra.

U.S. to Send More Men to War But Not as Many as Requested

By JOHN T. WHEELER
SAIGON (AP) - Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara will not recommend sending all the additional troops the U.S. Command in Vietnam told him it needs to prosecute the war fully, a high American source said today.

McNamara, on his ninth trip to Vietnam, also reportedly ordered Gen. William C. Westmoreland's command to cut away the fat from the 466,000-man American military force and step up the effectiveness of the U.S. fighting machine.

With 80 American maneuver battalions, the U.S. Command normally has only about 40,000 to 50,000 combat troops available for operations.

The secretary was reliably reported to have pressed for limited integration of Vietnamese troops into American units to get the Saigon army to handle a bigger share of the fighting, now done mostly by American battalions.

However, some additional troops are expected to be sent following the secretary's report to President Johnson. Westmoreland was reported to have asked for 100,000 to 140,000 men to prosecute the war at an optimum speed. He also submitted studies of what Washington could expect with various smaller amounts of troops.

Before he left this afternoon for the United States, McNamara told newsmen of Washington's troop policy since mid-1965, "It was then, it is now and I expect it will be in the future to provide the troops our commanders think necessary."

However, he qualified this, saying: "What is necessary depends on the extent to which we are using the resources we have available to us." He noted the allies have over one million men under arms and said: "There are many ways open to increase the effectiveness of those men if we set our minds and hearts to it."

He added that in the rapid buildup to date, U.S. commanders had overlooked means of getting the most use of their forces.

During his final day in Saigon, McNamara met with Vietnam's top generals, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state; Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Defense Minister Cao Van Vien. The Vietnamese generals were reported to have recommended boosting U.S. troop strength to 600,000 and escalating the air war against North Vietnam.

Israel Also Agrees to Observers

JERUSALEM (AP) - Israel agreed today to the posting of U.N. observers along the Suez Canal cease-fire line amid new demonstrations of Soviet support for the Arab cause.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry announcement said its agreement was "conditional on the establishment of observation points on both sides of the cease-fire line on a mutual basis."

Egypt informed U.N. Secretary-General U Thant Monday that it accepted the Security Council resolution calling for the stationing of U.N. military observers along the canal in an effort to prevent truce violations.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik returned to Cairo for the second time in less than three weeks in the wake of a visiting Soviet naval task force commander's promise to help the Egyptians "repel any aggression."

Egypt's official Middle East News Agency said Malik would hold "important talks" with Egyptian officials today and Wednesday, then visit other Arab capitals.

Malik visited Cairo with Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny June 23 after the Arab-Israeli war.

Many Egyptians interpreted the promise of help from Adm. Igor Molochov as a major change in the Soviet Union's cautious Middle East policy. Considerable significance also was attached to the arrival Monday of the Soviet warships - eight of them at Port Said, at the northern end of the Suez Canal, close to the area where Israeli and Egyptian jets and artillery fought Saturday.

There has been no sign in Moscow, however, of any change in the Soviet Union's policy of confining its aid to the Arabs to political moves and replacement of some of the arms they lost in the war with Israel. Kremlin leaders have been reported urging the Arabs to adopt a moderate course.

Egypt agreed Monday to the U.N. Security Council's decision to send military observers to the Suez area to try to prevent further breaches of the cease-fire.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban is due in New York tonight to deliver Israel's decision whether it would accept U.N. observers on its side of the truce line.

It was believed Israel would refuse to recognize such observers as a continuation of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization set up by the 1949 general armistice.

Israel replied Monday night to a U.N. General Assembly demand that it rescind its annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem, wrested from Jordan in the June 5 war.

Although the reply was not made public immediately, the Israeli government has said repeatedly that unity of the formerly divided city "is irrevocable," and Moslem members of the United Nations were expected to submit a new resolution to the General Assembly's emergency session on the Middle East demanding again that the annexation be annulled.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Algerian President Houari Boumedienne and King Hussein of Jordan conferred for 2½ hours in Cairo Monday after Nasser and Hussein met alone.

The government-controlled Cairo radio said the three leaders would "rally Arab forces against Western imperialist collusion with Israel."

The broadcast added that their main objective is "to erase the consequences of aggression until every inch of Arab land now in Israeli hands is liberated."

Killed in Fall From Oil Rig

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) - Daniel Dozier, 45, of Magnolia, an employee of the Gillespie Well Service of Magnolia, was killed Monday when he fell 55 feet from a drilling rig near the Cairo community, about 16 miles west of here.
